

A man and a woman are hiking along a rocky shore next to a large blue lake. The man is wearing a red and blue plaid shirt, khaki shorts, and a blue backpack. The woman is wearing a blue and white plaid shirt, khaki shorts, and a backpack. They are both wearing sunglasses and looking up and to the right. The man is holding a large blue map. The background shows a clear blue sky with some clouds and distant mountains.

From the Deep Blue
to Mountain Peaks,
We've Got You Covered.

At Patagonia, we believe your clothes should be as extraordinary as your adventures.

That's why we've created the Farther™ short with versatility in mind to help you dive deeper, climb higher, and go farther this summer.

Quick Drying

Designed with our special Quick Drying Technology, the Farther™ short dries completely within 10 minutes of getting wet.

Less dry time = more explore time.

It's Up to Us to Save Our Oceans.

We refuse to be a part of these growing statistics.

The Farther short is the first of our products to remove more pollution than it creates. Each pair is made entirely of biodegradable plant-based materials and recycled ocean microplastics.

By 2024, all of our polyester and nylon clothing will be made from plastics extracted directly from our oceans in an attempt to decrease textile pollution.
